

Make Friends

Three months ago, Bob didn't have any friends.

He was a fat boy because he liked eating. His classmates laughed at him.

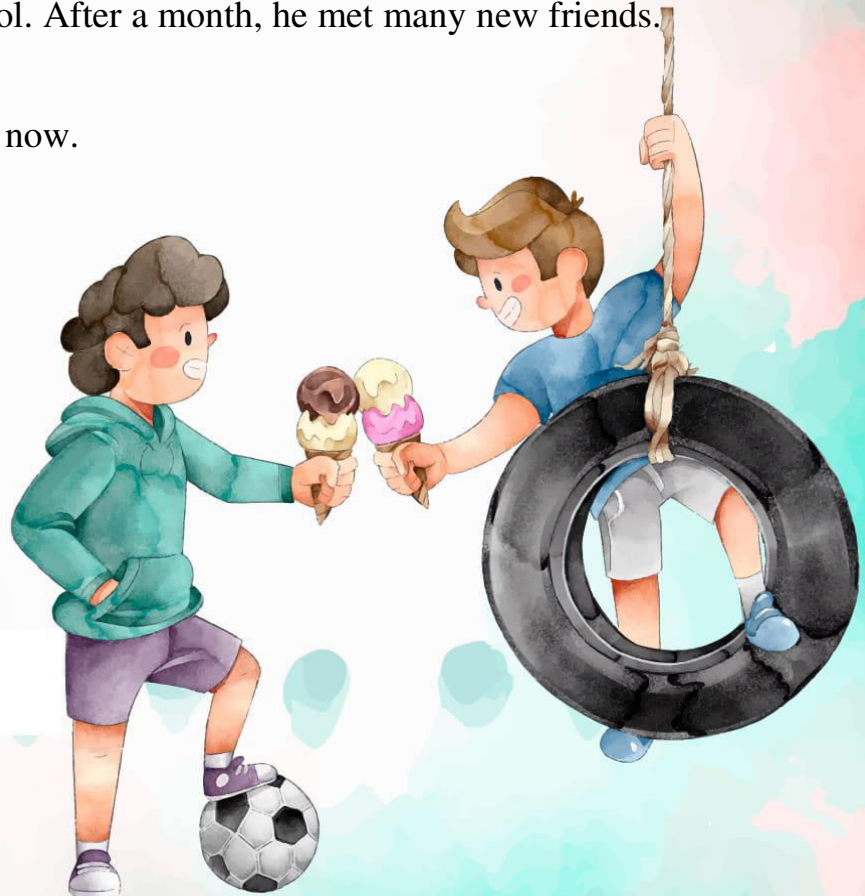

He felt lonely and unhappy.

He couldn't play basketball or football. Nobody played with him. He wanted to make friends.

His sister comforted him. His sister told Bob not to be sad. She suggested Bob to change to another school. Then, he could make new friends. Bob listened to her.

He changed to a new school. After a month, he met many new friends.

They were all fat. He is happy now.

My best friend Emma

My best friend is Emma. She is ten years old. Her birthday is on 12th February. She lives in Shatin. She goes to school by school bus.

Emma is short and thin. She is shorter than me. She has long hair and big eyes. Her smile is very sweet and really attractive. She always tells funny jokes. The jokes are more fun than a barrel of monkeys and make us laugh. She always chats with us. She is nice and friendly.

Emma likes going ice-skating. She can figure skate. That is amazing! She always goes ice-skating on Wednesdays. She sometimes goes cycling with me on Sundays. I like Emma very much.

A Birthday Party With Bobby

Last Saturday, my friend Jenny held a birthday party. She invited me and asked me to bring my puppy Bobby because it was cute. I was excited.

On that day, Bobby wore a suit and a tie. It looked smart. The party started at eight o'clock at night. Jenny felt pleased and happy when she saw Bobby.

It was the birthday cake time. Suddenly, Bobby jumped onto the cake when Jenny was blowing the candles. It ate the cake, too. I was very angry, but Jenny was not angry. She laughed because Bobby was so funny. There was some cake on Bobby's face.

The cake must be yummy. So Jenny decided to share the cake with Bobby. I took one piece of cake to Bobby. Finally, all of us enjoyed the party.

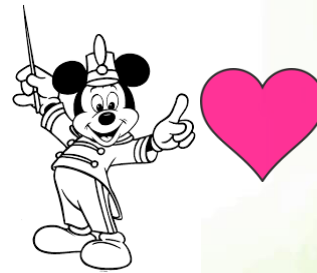

My Holiday Plan

Tomorrow is a holiday. In the morning, I will go to Yuen Long. I will look at the historic things and buildings on the heritage trail because I want to look at the old things.

In the afternoon, I will go to Disneyland. I will take photos of Mickey Mouse because I really love it!

In the evening, I will go to Mong Kok. I will go shopping at the Ladies' Market because I want to buy some new clothes

Make Friends

Three months ago, Bob was the fattest boy in his school. He was overweight! All the children laughed at him. They thought he looked like a snowman and his tummy looked like a watermelon. Nobody wanted to play with him. He felt bored and lonely at recess.

Bob couldn't play basketball or football, so nobody wanted to make friends with him. He was upset. After school, he went back home to tell his sister Betty. She comforted him, 'Cheer up, please! I think you should go on a diet. Let's make a healthy food diary.' Bob listened to his sister. The next day, he started his plan to get thinner. He ate less meat and junk food but more healthy food.

Now he is thinner. He isn't the fattest in his school. He is not overweight! Nobody laughs at him. Everybody wants to play with him. He feels happy at recess.

My Holiday Plan

Tomorrow is a holiday. In the morning, I will go to Sai Kung. I will go hiking because I want to get some fresh air.

In the afternoon, I will go to Tsim Sha Tsui. I will take photos on the Avenue of Stars because I want to take some beautiful photos of the handprints.

In the evening, I will go to Aberdeen. I will eat seafood at the floating restaurant because the seafood there is yummy

Eric's Holiday

It was Sunday morning. Eric got up and made the bed. Then he got dressed by himself. He packed his bag fast because he wanted to go to the beach.

Suddenly Eric heard a loud noise. He looked out of the window. It was raining outside. Eric was upset because he couldn't go out and build a sandcastle at the beach.

Dad came. He said, 'Don't worry! Let's watch a game show.' But Eric doesn't like watching game shows. He likes watching cartoons more because he thinks they are funny. Then Mum had an idea. She said, 'Our favourite programme is documentaries.' So they watched a documentary on TV.

In the afternoon, it stopped raining. Eric went to the beach with his family. He built a sandcastle. He was excited. He had fun that day

My Birthday Party with Bobby

Last Saturday, my friend Jenny held a birthday party. She invited me to her birthday party. She told me to remember to bring my puppy Bobby because my puppy is funny. I felt very excited.

On that day, Bobby wore a suit and a tie. It looked very smart. I wore those too. The party started at noon. Jenny felt very pleased when she saw Bobby.

When Jenny was blowing the candles, Bobby smelt the cake. It jumped onto the cake. We were shocked and I felt so sorry but Jenny didn't feel angry. She thought Bobby was funny because it was covered with cream.

Suddenly, Jenny had an idea. She said, 'Let's help Bobby to have a bath!' We all said, 'Nice! Good idea!'

After that, Bobby became very clean. At the end, we played with Bobby in the garden. We enjoyed ourselves that day.
